

A Data-Driven Framework for Neural Field Modeling

Research Highlights

- We derive a model-based, data-driven estimator of continuum neural field parameters.
- Systematic field decomposition enables a finite-dimensional state-space model.
- We show how to infer intracortical connectivity and synaptic dynamics from data.
- Our framework provides a new link between theoretical and experimental neuroscience.